A dark, grainy, black and white photograph of a building's exterior, possibly a roof or a wall, with a large, irregular white mark or hole in the center. The image is very dark and has a high level of contrast, making details difficult to discern. The white mark in the center appears to be a significant feature, possibly a hole or a large stain. The overall texture is rough and noisy, typical of a low-quality photocopy or a very old, degraded photograph.

Man's Lucky Find

Will Interest Readers of the Advertiser.

Those having the misfortune to suffer from backache, urinary disorders, gravel, dropsical swellings, rheumatic pains, or other kidney and bladder disorders, will read with gratification this encouraging statement by a Norway man.

S. C. Foster, barber, Main St., Norway, Me., says: "The public statement I gave about Doan's Kidney pills several years ago, was right in every particular. I used this remedy, getting it from Stone's Drug Store, and I am glad to say that it is the best one on the market. Sometimes when I catch cold, it settles on my kidneys, but a few doses of Doan's Kidney pills give me relief."

The above statement must carry convictions to the mind of every reader. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for Doan's Kidney Pills; the same that Mr. Foster had—the remedy backed by home testimony. 50c all stores. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Pomona Grange.

At West Bethel.

Pleasant Valley Grange entertained the Oxford County Pomona Grange. The attendance was gratifyingly large. The forenoon was devoted chiefly to the conferring of the fifth degree upon a class of 19 candidates, as follows: Sarah Scribner, Shirley Chase, Mrs. Mamie Jodrey, Sidney Jodrey, Mrs. Barlowe Spearling, Nellie Silver, Bethel Grange; Silas M. Sumner, J. A. Brown, Allen McKenzie, Mrs. Anna G. Mather, Joseph Mather, Pleasant Valley Grange; Mrs. Mand Newell, Gilead Grange; Willis Z. Bartlett, Alder River Grange; Leroy Stearns, Mabel Bailey, Grandwin Grange; Selma Smith, Bear River.

A beautiful dinner was served at noon. On calling to order for the afternoon session R. L. Cummings explained the appointing of a Grange serving committee for the legislative work. L. E. McIntire and G. W. Q. Perham also spoke on the subject.

A communication was read from the Governor relative to Fire Prevention Day, April 30.

The meeting was declared in open session and placed in the hands of the lecturer, A. N. Ryerson, who presented the following program—Piano solo, Mrs. A. N. Ryerson; reading, J. A. Packard; Bethel Grange; vocal solo, Josephine Corey, reading, Eli Grover, Bethel Grange; piano solo, Mildred Perham, Franklin Grange.

"Are we offering inducements enough for our young men to stay on the farm," was discussed by R. L. Cummings of West Paris Grange. Mr. Cummings thought the marketing problem discouraged many and on the whole the inducements in the past were hardly attractive enough to keep the young men there.

G. W. Q. Perham said he had enjoyed fairly good success but thought many times a farmer had to work long days. On the whole he was satisfied.

H. A. Head of Pleasant Valley Grange said he thought city life was really not what it was represented to be. Many times the people worked hard, tried to keep up with the fashions, had little to eat, and died poor. He was satisfied with the country.

Rev. J. H. Little said from an outside point of view there were many things to consider about farm life. He had lived on one in his early days and thought the life purer and more wholesome.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken inter-ally, and directly upon the diseased and inflamed surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The cure is so simple that it can be tried by any one. It is a positive cure in all cases that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

In the year 1913 there were in Maine 2555 fires reported to the Insurance Department. These fires caused a damage of approximately $8,000,000.
The per capita fire loss in Maine is about $4.00 annually.
It is safe to say that if we gave the same consideration to our fire waste, that we give to the purchase of our wardrobe, we would decrease our fire waste $2,000,000 per year.
More than 300 fires caused by defective chimneys and flues will occur in Maine during the next year unless prevented by inspection and correction of defects.
Lighting caused 151 fires in Maine during the year 1913 with a damage of $127,000. We can't prevent lightning, but properly installed lightning rods will prevent the loss of our buildings from this cause.

A Shooting Affair.

A shooting affair took place Tuesday afternoon, April 14th at the home of William H. Adams in Albany, when Mrs. Ethel M. Cummings met her death by means of a shot gun. The family consisted of four, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Adams and their two daughters, Mrs. Ethel M. Cummings aged sixteen and Irene Adams aged fourteen years.
It seems that during the afternoon between 3 and 4 o'clock the family were in the yard. Mr. Adams sawing wood and the other members of the family sitting in the door yard. After a time Ethel Cummings went into the house and later her father went in carrying an arm full of wood. About five minutes later Mrs. Adams and the younger daughter went in with an arm full of wood, but just previous to their going into the house the sound of a gun was heard. The younger daughter inquired what the noise was and the mother went to the front room and found her daughter lying on the floor dead with a shot gun by her side. Mr. Adams, who was sitting in the kitchen taking off his shoes, was called and later several of the neighbors.

A. P. Bassett, the coroner was immediately notified and went to the scene. The next morning Dr. B. F. Bradbury and Dr. H. L. Bartlett held autopsy and Wednesday afternoon an inquest was held. The jury empaneled were A. P. Bassett, William B. Cummings, Fred Scribner, Clifton N. Eastman, Lucien J. Andrews, Isaac Wardlaw, Reuben G. Stearns. The witnesses were examined before the jury and their verdict was as follows: "Mrs. Ethel M. Cummings came to her death, Tuesday, April 14, 1914, between the hours of 3 and 4 in the afternoon by means of a shot gun wound in the mouth from some person unknown to this jury."

During the forenoon the sisters had some trouble and there had been previous family trouble, the father not desiring the daughter to remain at home.

WEDDING BOXES.

How to Make Receipts For Bride Cake at Home.

It is quite possible to cover small boxes for wedding cake at home if you have clever fingers and are willing to spend the time necessary to do the work well.

A wedding cake box should, of course, always be simple. White is the only color permissible on it unless a small bunch of flowers, with green stems—the flowers must be white—is used as decoration.

If you would make these boxes buy small boxes of the desired shape, size and then buy paper to cover them.

White crinkled paper can be used. A good way to put the paper in the cover, which is the only part that shows when the box is closed, is to paste it only on the under side. Cut two strips of paper, one the width of the box, another the length, both running with the grain of the paper.

Paste the end of one strip to the under part of one end of the cover; draw it out over the end, the top and the other end of the cover, and then cut it off, allowing an inch of paper to paste on the under part of the other end of the cover. Fasten the crosswise piece in the same way.

Make tiny white paper flowers and fasten a little bunch of them to the cover with a small bow of baby white satin ribbon.
These boxes are dainty and can be made at little cost. The cake which is put in them should be daintily wrapped in waxed paper.

How to Warm Wrapped Bread.

Many persons who are fond of freshly baked and even warm baker's bread have, it seems, been opposing the modern sanitary methods of having all bread wrapped and sealed cold and not handled by clerks or exposed to dust, flies, germs and filth on counters or in wagons. The bureau of chemistry of the department of agriculture regards the wrapping of bread as so important that it has caused the plant chemistry laboratory to make a series of experiments to determine whether or not like fresh or warm bread cannot get what they want in wrapped form.
Bread fresh from the oven if wrapped while warm becomes moist and clammy and of unpleasant flavor. Loaves therefore must be allowed to cool thoroughly before being wrapped.
After some experiment the experts found that if a cold wrapped loaf is unwrapped and placed in a pan in the oven in good medium heat for ten minutes it will be as good as fresh, crisp without and tender within, and at the same time will be free from any pollution it might have gained if conveyed unprotected from baker to consumer. The bureau believes that if lovers of warm bread will try this plan they, too, will become ardent advocates of the clean, wrapped method of purveying bread.

Least Gallons

That's the thing to go-by in paint—least gallons—Devoe.

The strongest takes least gallons, of course; and, of course, wears longest.

Costs half to three-quarters; more likely half. Depends on what you compare it with.

Compared with average paint, Devoe costs half and wears two or three times as long.

Compared with the worst, Devoe costs a third—the worse your paint, the more it costs. You'll find it out when you pay for putting it on.

You pay by the gallon. No matter how you pay, you pay by the gallon.

You pay for putting it on by the day; but the painter paints a gallon a day; a day is a gallon; you pay by the gallon.

If you don't know it, better look-out.

If you want to know what a gallon costs you, put-on; add together the gallon price and the day's-work price.

You pay that for every gallon you have put-on; no matter what paint; no matter what price; no matter who paints it; no matter what bargain you make.

An extra gallon means weak paint, a little more money for paint, more money for painters' wages (about $5 a gallon for both), and painting again too soon.

The cheap paint is Devoe; the others are dear; there are 8 not-adulterated in the United States; 200 adulterated; 100 short-measure; one Devoe. Take your choice.

If anyone doubts any statement above, here's the proof:

He may paint half his job Devoe, the other half any paint he likes. If Devoe doesn't take less gallons and cost less money (1) for the gallons and (2) for putting it on, no pay. If it does, Devoe is the paint that makes least first cost.

Tobacco Should be Smoked Up As Soon as it's Cut Up

Then it is bound to be fresh—to smoke cool and sweet—because the natural moisture hasn't a chance to escape. That's the reason experienced smokers stick to the good old Sickle plug—slice off a fresh pipeful as they need it—and get all the original flavor and fragrance that have been pressed in the plug, and kept there by the natural leaf wrapper.

These smokers could save a minute's time by getting their tobacco already cut up—but they know it would also be dried up, would burn fast and bite their tongues.

You'll find solid satisfaction in smoking Sickle. And you'll get more tobacco, because there is no package to pay for. Your dealer sells Sickle.

BETHEL.

"Too Many Churches."

We often hear it said, there are "too many churches," and it will be stated that in a given community "there are three or four churches, and the usual congregations in all four could be accommodated in either one of the churches and it would be better if there were only one." Sunday, March 29th, was a very good test of this statement.

It was "everybody go to church" Sunday, and the people answered the appeal so readily that there was hardly an extra seat in any of the churches, yet there were many people connected with each of the churches, who were not present, and it is not over-stating the fact, that if all had been present, it would have been a question of where can I get a seat. All the churches would have been full and overflowing. We consider it a pretty good demonstration that it is not "too many churches" but too many "stay at home."

If the people attended church as they did fifty years ago, some or all the churches would have to be enlarged, and all of them would find it difficult, on a fair day, to find seats for all.

If the "everybody at church" movement starts the swing of the pendulum of church attendance back to the good old custom of the past, it will have accomplished one of the best feats of the century, for the uplift of human life, and the strengthening of the forces of good to meet the great evils of the present. It will be a ministry of divine power among the people for the highest good of all. The appeal of the Savior, is come with me and I will do you good.

Burgess vs. Hill.

There was a hearing, in the Supreme Court room, Portland.

Wakefield Burgess of Boston brought a bill in equity and for the recovery of damages against Charles E. Hill of Brownfield, and it was upon these that the hearing was held. As a result he crossed the line. Burgess seeks to have Hill restrained from crossing the land and to pay nominal damages for what he has used the property.

About half a dozen witnesses were examined in the case and arguments were given. Chief Justice Albert R. Savage of the Supreme Court presided. E. E. Hastings of Fryeburg appeared for the plaintiff, and Alton C. Wheeler of South Paris and Jesse M. Libby of Mechanic Falls represented the defendant. No decision was given by Justice Savage.

A BUSINESS MAN OF MINNEAPOLIS

MR. E. M. TAYLOR, No. 250 Nicollet St., Minneapolis, Minn. (pany, Columbus, Ohio.)

"To-day I am in excellent health. Never felt better in my life. I am glad of this opportunity to say something to all men or women who suffer from dyspepsia and stomach trouble. I consider Peruna a great remedy. It is a godsend."

A new book of interest to all, sick or well, sent free by the Peruna Company.

Minneapolis is a city where they do things. Stimulated by a vigorous climate, surrounded by a fertile country, peopled by the best blood of the over crowded east, it is a city of hustle, of great achievements conceived and wrought out.

Mr. Taylor, of Minneapolis, Minn., is one of this sort of men. A newspaper man. A political worker. An Englishman by birth. He has been in this country nineteen years. He has resided in the northwest, Winnipeg, Fargo, and for the last ten years in Minneapolis.

Mr. Taylor is a friend of Peruna and does not conceal his friendship. He is thoroughly enthused with the belief that Peruna is a great remedy. He has a right to feel so. For several years he suffered with dyspepsia. This caused him to have very bad health.

Newspaper advertisements would never have influenced him to take Peruna. It was friends that persuaded him to try the remedy. In less than a week he needed no more persuasion. He saw that Peruna was doing him good. He is able to say in a letter to the Peruna Company:

Donald, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Wakefield returned last week from Dr. Abbott's private hospital, Portland, where he has been receiving treatment for an injured foot.

The usual schools began last week with the following teachers:

Primary—Alice Weston of Madison. East Brownfield—Mrs. Mabel Giles. West Brownfield—Jesse L. Rowe. Blake—Nancy V. Cole, Cornish. Bartlett—Fannie Flint. Lane—Mrs. Flora Wakefield. Quint—George F. Gatchell.

Mrs. Reuben Cobb, who formerly lived here passed away at the home of her daughter in Brewer about a week ago. She has been a great sufferer from cancer of the throat.

Melville Wilbur and family left Monday to reside in Norway, where Mr. Wilbur will superintend the lumber yard in which he has an interest. The villagers are sorry to lose these public spirited citizens who will be greatly missed in social circles.

Mrs. Mary Skillings observed her birthday on Easter. She sent a large bouquet of carnations to the church. The flowers were given her by her children. Mrs. Skillings has lived many years in Bolster's Mills and her hosts of friends remember with pleasure these anniversary days.

Easter was observed at the church by a very impressive service. Four persons were baptized and five united with the church. Mrs. Laite rendered a solo. She was accompanied by the organist, Fannie Wight, and E. A. Wight, violinist. The decorations at the altar were especially fine including carnations and Easter lilies besides other flowers in banks living green. Rev. Mr. Laite gave his Easter sermon in the evening, and Mrs. Laite played the violin. At the mid-week prayer service the topic was "Your Favorite Hymn," and the pastor gave anecdotes and explanations concerning some of the well known hymns which were full of interest.

Aunt Polly's Day.

Part One. Old Style.

BY MRS. S. E. BATES-BARTLETT.

"As summer comes with birds and flowers When gone are winter's chilly hours, So to the pure will rise a day That nevermore shall pass away."

It is September 16, 1913, and is a perfect day, and it reminds me of a day seventy-two years ago, when a dear friend, we called her Aunt Polly, went to take up a swarm of bees, for it was just about this time of year. Aunt Polly was a most perfect type of Christian woman, honest, but was in consumption and very feeble. See had gone to live with her brother, Edward Andrews, who built a little house on the end of his long wood shed, so she could be by herself and yet near by.

There were two large lovely pear trees set near her house and underneath their beautiful branches she set her two hives of bees. She felt interested and anxious about them for they were about all she could call her own of this world's goods and they were expected to swarm most any warm day.

At last the cry was raised "the bees are swarming" and we all ran out taking a string of bells and shook them as hard as we could; another took an old tin pail while others took pans and sticks and made as much noise as possible, hoping by the noise they made to stop them from going off very far, but no, their minds were fully made up, and in spite of all this horrid din, off they went, a distance from the ground, forty or fifty feet he saw the bees passing in and out, storing the sweet food for winter.

Aunt Polly thought she could walk as far as that, and asked us all to go along with her to help get the honey. I was pleased to go, so we all started that pleasant day, and reached the spot by the tree.

Mr. Andrews chopped away for some time, and at last the tree fell, the bees coming out in countless numbers, and Aunt Polly fainted away. Childlike, I felt just like backing out just then, for they did just as we all do in time of great danger, try to defend ourselves, and the little weapons they always carry took effect on me, and I left as fast as ever I could, but returned to the tree to help carry some of the honey home, for I wanted some of the honey myself.

We all had about as much as we could carry, Mr. Andrews and his wife had a big tub and a pail in each hand, I had a pail, Aunt Polly had a small pail, and I think Willie, the little boy, also had a pail of comb and honey.

I think there must have been more than a pallful of nice strained honey, beside all the wax they could have saved.

But what became of the poor bees?

Paint

Weather Endurance

The paint that is fit to put on a house (your Home) should be of sufficient quality to withstand the extremes and most severe weather—This is possible only by using paint which is made by scientific paintmakers who know what materials when used together will produce a covering which will keep out the destructive forces of nature, such as rain, snow, frost, dew, heat from the sun. These forces will destroy (decay) bare wood or wood poorly painted.

Our Paint Booklet will tell you more about this important subject—telephone or call for a copy.
